In a highly competitive restaurant industry, attracting customers with dedicated service and high quality food is essential to supporting the restaurant business. Indeed, the culinary business in Indonesia is very large. However, the large number of new players that have sprung up in this business will clearly lead to increasingly heated competition. If you take a wrong step, the restaurant entrepreneur will be unable to compete and eventually go out of business. Therefore, many restaurants are competing to create distinctive features or uniqueness in order to have individual value for customers. Sago restaurant is one of the restaurants affected by business competition. Customer loyalty is a form of long-term relationship. To be able to survive in the midst of competition, it requires a good marketing customer loyalty strategy. So that the company can continue and expand its business ventures.

The research method used is Multiple Linear Regression Analysis, this research includes explanatory research, with 70 respondents in this study. Service Quality Variable with 11 indicators, physical appearance, reliability, responsiveness, competence, politeness, credibility, security, access, communication, understanding, accountability, food quality variables 5 indicators, appearance, portion, shape, temperature, taste, and customer loyalty variables with 3 indicators, say positive, recommend to others or friends, re-purchase.

Based on the analysis, it can be concluded that there is an influence of service quality and food quality on customer loyalty. It can be seen from the positive responses of 70 questionnaires that the variables of service quality and food quality affect customer loyalty.
